Institutional Distinctiveness

Institutional Distinctiveness: Our institute is situated in inferior socioeconomic part of terai region. Bahraich is an agriculture based aspirational district toward economy and education and accommodate large number of Tharu tribes . Majority of tribes come from remote areas of the district .Since the establishment of the institute, College provides affordable education to all sections. Especially attention has been provided to these tribe students. College offers priority in accommodation of these students during admission. The College library provides reading room for girls and a lady supervisor in the reading room to look after requirement. College has a well equipped Gymnasium Hall to meet out Student and faculty members' requirement. It is a good place to play indoor games and offering an opportunity to get active. Studies have shown that that a student who stay active physically will be more alertand attentive in class room. Physical activities allowing faculty student to de-stress and improving overall academic performance.
